Notes to Financial Statements
September 30, 2000 and 1999

NOTE 1: SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Nature of the business - Trading Solutions.Com, Inc (the "Company") is designed to provide education for people interested in on line investing. The Company also intends to establish a corporate trading account and manage money. The Company further intends to establish or acquire an e-commerce business to link with the trading school.

Development Stage Company - In the prior fiscal year the Company was a development stage company, as defined in the Financial Accounting Standards Board No. 7. The Company devoted substantially all of its efforts in securing and establishing a new business. During the first six months of the current fiscal year, the Company commenced operations.

Persuasiveness of estimates - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Cash and cash equivalents - For financial statement presentation purposes, the Company considers all short term investments with a maturity date of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Property and equipment - Property and equipment are recorded at cost. Maintenance and repairs are expensed as incurred; major renewals and betterments are capitalized. When items of property or equipment are sold or retired, the related costs and accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts and any gain or loss is included in income.

Depreciation is provided using the straight-line method, over the useful lives of the assets.

Income taxes - Income taxes are provided for the tax effects of transactions reported in the financial statements and consist of taxes currently due plus deferred taxes related primarily to differences between the recorded book basis and the tax basis of assets and liabilities for financial and income tax reporting. The deferred tax assets and liabilities represent the future tax return consequences of those differences, which will either be taxable or deductible when the assets and liabilities are recovered or settled. Deferred taxes are also recognized for operating losses that are available to offset future taxable income.

These options are to be exercised at $.10 a share and have an expiration date of December 31, 2002. These options are callable at $.02 per share by the Company with a 30 day notice. NOTE 5: INCOME TAXES

The benefit for income taxes from operations consisted of the following components: current tax benefit of $26,250 resulting from a net loss before income taxes, and a deferred tax expense of $26,250 resulting from a valuation allowance recorded against the deferred tax asset resulting from net operating losses. Net operating loss carryforward will expire in 2014.

The valuation allowance will be evaluated at the end of each year, considering positive and negative evidence about whether the asset will be realized. At that time, the allowance will either be increased or reduced; reduction would result in the complete elimination of the allowance if positive evidence indicates that the value of the deferred tax asset is no longer required.

NOTE 6: RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

The Company entered into an agreement with one of its shareholders to provide assistance to the Company in the formation of its corporate structure and to use their contacts in assisting with the development of a public market for the Company's common stock. The agreement calls for the shareholder to be paid a total of $22,000 of which $2,000 and $5,000 was paid for the periods ended September 30, 2000 and 1999. The Company is to further provide support services such as office space and telephone services for which the Company will be billed separately. Total cash paid for these additional services as of September 30, 1999 was $1,465. There were no amounts paid to this shareholder for the period ended September 30, 2000.

There is an agreement with one of the founders to provide support services to the Company. This agreement has a maximum of $10,000. The total amount paid, as of September 30, 2000 and 1999 was 3000 and $6,500 respectively.

NOTE 7: MATERIAL ADJUSTMENTS

Management has made all material adjustments to the financial statements to be conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

NOTE 8: GOING CONCERN

From the date of inception the Company has yet to commence receiving a material amount of revenue and has net losses from operating activities which raise substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern.

Edgar Filing: TRADING SOLUTIONS COM INC - Form 10-Q

Management will work to establish a local market niche for each one of its trading schools by advertising in local newspapers and radio. This is intended to create public awareness of the Company's name and its services.

Management also intends to affiliate with professional traders to teach online classes and seminars in real-time broadcasting. The Company also intends to continually invest in its web site infrastructure as needed for upgrades, incorporation of new features and keeping up with the changing internet technology. The Company will establish an on line store that will offer literature such as books, newspapers and newsletters that will target online investors.

NOTE 8: GOING CONCERN (con't)

In order to attract and retain quality instructors the Company plans to grant each participating instructor the opportunity to be promoted on an exclusive basis by the Company's web site.

The Company's ability to continue as a going concern is dependent upon a successful public offering and ultimately achieving profitable operations.

There is no assurance that the Company will be successful in its efforts to raise additional proceeds or achieve profitable operations. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations.

The Net sales for the third quarter that ended December 31, 2000 were $11,363, compare to $1,625 from the corresponding period of the prior year. For the nine month period ended December 31, 2000, the company has experienced a 599% increase in net sales from the corresponding period of the prior year.

The company is in the process of introducing its services to the local community at its first location in Monterey, CA. The management has been actively exploring a possible opportunity of opening a location in San Diego, CA. The Company believes that a central city location will promote better name recognition and will increase sales.

The company will continue providing its services through its trading school, and will continue developing its web based operations.

Loss from operations prior to other expenses and taxes for the nine months ended December 31, 2000 was $80,475 compared to $120,426 for the corresponding period in 1999. The increase in the gross margin from the corresponding period of the prior year is principally attributable to the company's marketing efforts.

Edgar Filing: TRADING SOLUTIONS COM INC - Form 10-Q

Advertising, general and administrative expenses were $91,838 for the for the nine months ended December 31, 2000, compared to $122,037 for the corresponding period in 1999. These expenses decreased due to the Company getting further along in its development.

The company is in the process of adding new services and product lines. The company will continue to sell its services in Monterey, California and evaluate possible new locations.

The company anticipates that its marketing and operating costs will increase because of changes to its marketing and business development.

The company has been a development stage company for the past year and therefore has not felt the effect of inflation. Should prices increase the company will have to increase its cost of sales. There is a question as to the Company's viability. It is classified as a development stage company and has yet to demonstrate profitable operations.

Item 3. Liquidity and Capital Resources.

As of December 31, 2000, the company had a cash equivalence of $25,077. The capital resource available came from the company's IPO offering. The Company sold 101,000 shares for total proceeds of $101,000.
