Item 3. Source and Amount of Funds or Other Consideration

The source of funds used for the purchase of the Issuer's securities was the working capital of ValueAct Master Fund and ValueAct Master Fund III. The aggregate funds used by these Reporting Persons to make the purchases reported in Item 5(c) below were $39,772,800 and $4,419,200.

Item 4. Purpose of Transaction

On July 10, 2007, the Reporting Persons sent a letter (the "Letter") to Mr. James V. Mazzo, the Chairman of the Board of Directors, President and Chief Executive Officer of the Issuer, expressing the Reporting Persons' objections to the Issuer's proposed acquisition of Bausch & Lomb Incorporated. The Letter states that the proposed acquisition would reduce shareholder returns, presents substantial execution risk and is fundamentally ill advised. The Letter also states that the Reporting Persons intend to vote their shares against the proposed acquisition. A copy of the Letter is attached as Exhibit 2 to this report and is incorporated herein by reference.

The Reporting Persons have acquired the Issuer's Common Stock for investment purposes, and such purchases have been made in the Reporting Persons' ordinary course of business.

In pursuing such investment purposes, the Reporting Persons may further purchase, hold, vote, trade, dispose or otherwise deal in the Common Stock at times, and in such manner, as they deem advisable to benefit from changes in market prices of such Common Stock, changes in the Issuer's operations, business strategy or prospects, or from sale or merger of the Issuer. To evaluate such alternatives, the Reporting Persons will routinely monitor the Issuer's operations, prospects, business development, management, competitive and strategic matters, capital structure, and prevailing market conditions, as well as alternative investment opportunities, liquidity requirements of the Reporting Persons and other investment considerations. Consistent with its investment research methods and evaluation criteria, the Reporting Persons may discuss such matters with management or directors of the Issuer, other shareholders, industry analysts, existing or potential strategic partners or competitors, investment and financing professionals, sources of credit and other investors. Such factors and discussions may materially affect, and result in, the Reporting Persons' modifying their ownership of Common Stock, exchanging information with the Issuer pursuant to appropriate confidentiality or similar agreements, proposing changes in the Issuer's operations, governance or capitalization, or in proposing one or more of the other actions described in subsections (a) through (j) of Item 4 of Schedule 13D.

Edgar Filing: ADVANCED MEDICAL OPTICS INC - Form SC 13D/A

The Reporting Persons reserve the right to formulate other plans and/or make other proposals, and take such actions with respect to their investment in the Issuer, including any or all of the actions set forth in paragraphs (a) through (j) of Item 4 of Schedule 13D, or acquire additional Common Stock or dispose of all the Common Stock beneficially owned by them, in the public market or privately negotiated transactions. The Reporting Persons may at any time reconsider and change their plans or proposals relating to the foregoing.

Dear Jim:

ValueAct Capital ("ValueAct") now owns 8.8 million shares representing 14.7% of Advanced Medical Optics' ("AMO") common shares outstanding. I am writing to express ValueAct's opposition to AMO's proposed acquisition of Bausch & Lomb ("B&L"). I have copied B&L's board of directors on this letter so that they might consider our objection in evaluating AMO's offer. We understand that the proposed acquisition would require AMO shareholder approval. We intend to vote against the deal.

We believe an AMO acquisition of B&L would impair our expected risk-adjusted return as AMO shareholders. The proposed acquisition increases business risk by further concentrating AMO cash flows in a consumer contact lens and lens care business that is clearly prone to product recalls and that has a long-term demand profile that is much more questionable than that of AMO's surgical business. The required debt financing reduces the margin for error operationally and, together with the proposed issuance of collarless equity, subjects current shareholders to significant capital markets risk. Finally, the proposed transaction raises substantial regulatory risk which you have told us is the reason that you do not yet have a commitment from any private equity partners.

But most concerning to us is the execution risk of a B&L acquisition. Against the backdrop of the Complete MoisturePlus recall and the integration of IntraLase, you are asking investors to believe that Randy and you can deliver on the synergies of integrating B&L, a company that is over twice the size of AMO (based on 2006 revenue), in what would be your most complicated acquisition to date. By your own admission this would be a stretch and would challenge already constrained management resources. In your July 5th press release, you stated that you intend to rely not on a strong management bench but on "a team of outside advisors?to complete a rapid and successful integration".

We might feel differently had you demonstrated an ability to deliver in the past, but a B&L acquisition in your hands is simply too big a leap of faith in light of your public track record. You have yet to stick to or deliver a single number to which you have initially guided investors for the years 2005 to 2008. The following table lays out the history:

	Pro Forma EPS
Previous guidance	$1.65 - $1.75	$2.20 - $2.30	$2.65+
Date issued	October 21, 2004	February 8, 2005	July 20, 2005
Actual / most recent guidance	$1.48	$1.30	($1.15) - ($0.95)
% change based on mid-point	(12.9%)	(42.2%)	-

In October 2004, you guided investors to $1.65 to $1.75 of next year pro forma EPS. Today, almost three years later, your next year guidance is $1.55 to $1.75 ? more or less the same target. Is it a surprise that AMO's stock price is in the same spot? On a prospective basis you have held out the carrot of $2.25+ of pro forma EPS, a target which has perpetually been around the corner ? first in 2006, then pushed out to 2007, then pushed out to 2008, and now in 2009 at the earliest. Just as $2.25 of pro forma EPS have yet to materialize, real earnings have yet to materialize. From 2002 to 2006, cumulative one-time costs¹ of $595 million have more than entirely offset cumulative operating profit² of $445 million. How long will one-time acquisition and repositioning costs obfuscate the earnings power of the business? At some point you must execute on what you have and deliver on the promise. When you have yet to deliver actual earnings, it is unrealistic to ask us to believe you can execute an acquisition of the magnitude of B&L.

Our initial investment decision was based on the strength of the AMO's existing assets, specifically the surgical assets. Favorable demographics support solid secular growth rates, which we believe will be augmented by less emphasis on reimbursement-based demand and more emphasis on consumer-driven demand. The industry structure is conducive to sustainable, attractive margins and is one where innovation will expand the market and move market share.

We have always believed in AMO's business. It's the lack of discipline on the part of management and the board that has been our greatest concern. Randy has made the argument that AMO would not be where it is today, that is, bidding on B&L, if not for the acquisition program to date. As we describe above, there has been no per share earnings or stock price progress over the last three years. Randy's comments further our point that management and the board appear misguided in thinking absolute growth, at any cost, will also grow shareholder value. We have seen all too often acquisition-oriented management teams go "a bridge too far". AMO's attempt to acquire B&L raises operational, financial and regulatory risk that will distract management from what should be top priorities in the near term including fixing the existing lens solution challenges, driving market adoption of multifocal IOLs and realizing the promised synergies of the IntraLase acquisition.

With all AMO has on its plate, the timing of this proposed deal could not be worse. The process is rushed, and the contemplated financing, with all its uncertainty to current equity holders, poses unacceptable risk. We feel the impulse to do the B&L deal right now is indicative of a management and board fixated on doing a deal at any cost. The B&L proxy statement filed today indicates that in October 2006 you initially expressed an interest in possibly acquiring B&L for "in excess of $60 per share". Faced with potentially losing the deal to Warburg Pincus ("Warburg"), you eventually increased this to $75. In addition, your June 20th proposal to acquire B&L included the concept of a 5% equity collar. The B&L board had issues with the "lack of price protection with respect to the stock component" so you ceded collar protection in your June 29th proposal, thus trading significant risk of dilution to current shareholders in order to stay in the hunt.

To the extent that an AMO and B&L combination makes sense, this property is not going into Warburg's hands forever. To the contrary, Warburg is a seller at some point; that is how they get paid. Management should take the lower risk path of fixing the solutions business and integrating prior acquisitions while letting Warburg handle the heavy lifting of the B&L turnaround. We want you to prove to your shareholders that you deserve to do a deal this big, by first executing on the current challenges and opportunities. By doing so, you will reduce AMO's cost of equity. While the B&L asset will be more expensive next time around, the risk-reward will be more attractive.

Sincerely,
