Dais Analytic Corporation
Notes to Condensed Financial Statements
Three Months Ended March 31, 2009
(Unaudited)

1. Background Information

Dais Analytic Corporation (the “Company”), a New York corporation, has developed and is commercializing applications using its nano-structure polymer technology. The first commercial product is an energy recovery ventilator (“ERV”) (cores and systems) for use in commercial Heating, Ventilating, and Air Conditioning (HVAC) applications. In addition to direct sales, the Company licenses its nano-structured polymer technology to strategic partners in the aforementioned application and is in various stages of development with regard to other applications employing its base technologies. The Company was incorporated in April of 1993 with its corporate headquarters located in Odessa, Florida.

2. Going Concern

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming that the Company will continue as a going concern. For the three months ended March 31, 2009, the Company incurred a net loss of $648,786. As of March 31, 2009, the Company has an accumulated deficit of $29,425,555, negative working capital of $4,042,119 and a stockholder’s deficit of $4,246,075 and are in default on notes in the aggregate principal amount of $1,850,000. In view of these matters, there is substantial doubt that the Company will continue as a going concern. The recoverability of recorded property and equipment, intangible assets, and other asset amounts shown in the accompanying financial statements is dependent upon the Company’s ability to continue as a going concern and to achieve a level of profitability. The Company intends on financing its future activities and its working capital needs largely from the sale of public equity securities with some additional funding from other traditional financing sources, including term notes and proceeds from sub-licensing agreements until such time that funds provided by operations are sufficient to fund working capital requirements. However, there can be no assurance that the Company will be successful in its efforts. The financial statements of the Company do not include any adjustments relating to the recoverability and classification of recorded assets, or the amounts and classifications of liabilities that might be necessary should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern.

3. Significant Accounting Policies

In the opinion of management, all adjustments consisting only of normal recurring adjustments necessary for a fair statement of (a) the results of operations for the three month periods ended March 31, 2009 and 2008, (b) the financial position at March 31, 2009 and December 31, 2008, and (c) cash flows for the three month periods ended March 31, 2009 and 2008, have been made.

The unaudited financial statements and notes are presented as permitted by Form 10-Q. Accordingly, certain information and note disclosures normally included in the financial statements prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America have been omitted although the company generally believes that the disclosures are adequate to ensure that the information presented is not misleading. The accompanying financial statements and notes should be read in conjunction with the audited financial statements and notes of the Company for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2008 included in the Company’s Annual Report on Form 10K filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on March 31, 2009. The results of operations for the three month period ended March 31, 2009 are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected for any future quarters or for the entire year ending December 31, 2009.

The significant accounting policies followed are:

Use of estimates - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

3. Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Loan and stock issuance costs - Direct loan costs incurred with the issuance of notes payable are deferred and amortized to interest expense over the life of the related notes payable. For the three months ended March 31, 2009 and 2008, the Company incurred amortization from direct loan costs of $1,004 and $23,854, respectively.

Stock issuance costs are recorded as a reduction of the related proceeds through a charge to stockholders' equity.

Inventory - Inventory consists of raw materials and is stated at the lower of cost, determined by first-in, first-out method, or market. Market is determined based on the net realizable value, with appropriate consideration given to obsolescence, excessive levels, deterioration and other factors.

Revenue recognition - Generally, the Company recognizes revenue for its products upon shipment to customers, provided no significant obligations remain and collection is probable. Our ConsERV™ product typically carries a warranty of two years for all parts contained therein with the exception of the energy recovery ventilator core which typically carries a 10 year warranty. The warranty includes replacement of defective parts. A warranty reserve is recorded for estimated costs associated with potential warranty expenses on previous sales. Warranty cost has been immaterial to our overall operations. Revenue derived from the sale of licenses is deferred and recognized as revenue on a straight-line basis over the life of the license, or until the license arrangement is terminated. The Company recognized revenue of $21,036 and $21,037 from license agreements for the three month periods ended March 31, 2009 and 2008, respectively.

Employee stock options - In December 2004, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 123 (Revised 2004), "Share-Based Payment" (SFAS 123R). SFAS 123R requires all share-based payments to employees, including grants of employee stock options, to be recognized as compensation expense in the financial statements based on their fair values. That expense will be recognized over the period during which an employee is required to provide services in exchange for the award, known as the requisite service period (usually the vesting period).

The value of each grant under SFAS 123(R) is estimated at the grant date using the Black-Scholes option model with the following assumptions for options granted during the three month periods ended March 31, 2009 and 2008:

	Three Months Ended March 31, 2009	Three Months Ended March 31, 2008
Dividend rate	0%	0%
Risk free interest rate	1.65% – 1.92%	2.64% - 3.45%
Term	5 – 10 years	5 – 10 years
Volatility	92% – 93%	80% – 114%

The basis for the above assumptions are as follows: the dividend rate is based upon the Company's history of dividends; the risk-free interest rate for periods within the contractual life of the option is based on the U.S. Treasury yield curve in effect at the time of grant; the expected term was calculated based on the Company's historical pattern of options granted that are expected to be outstanding; and expected volatility was calculated by review of a peer company's historical activity.

SFAS No. 123R requires forfeitures to be estimated at the time of grant and revised, if necessary, in subsequent periods if actual forfeitures differ from those estimates. Based on historical experience of forfeitures, the Company estimated forfeitures at zero percent for the period ended March 31, 2009 and 2008 and incorporated this rate in the estimated fair value of employee option grants during 2009 and 2008.

3. Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Financial instruments – In September 2006, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 157 “Fair Value Measurements” (SFAS 157). SFAS 157 introduces a framework for measuring fair value and expands required disclosure about fair value measurements of assets and liabilities. SFAS 157 for financial assets and liabilities is effective for fiscal years beginning after November 15, 2007. The Company adopted the standard for those financial assets and liabilities as of the 2008 fiscal year and the impact of adoption was not significant. SFAS 157 defines fair value as the exchange price that would be received for an asset or paid to transfer a liability (an exit price) in the principal or most advantageous market for the asset or liability in an orderly transaction between market participants on the measurement date. SFAS 157 also establishes a fair value hierarchy, which requires an entity to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs when measuring fair value. The standard describes three levels of inputs that may be used to measure fair value:

- Level 1—Quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.
- Level 2—Inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1 that are either directly or indirectly observable.
- Level 3—Unobservable inputs that are supported by little or no market activity, therefore requiring an entity to develop its own assumptions about the assumptions that market participants would use in pricing.

Fair value estimates discussed herein are based upon certain market assumptions and pertinent information available to management as of March 31, 2009. The respective carrying value of certain on-balance-sheet financial instruments approximated their fair values due to the short-term nature of these instruments. These financial instruments include cash, accounts receivable, prepaid and other current expenses, accounts payable, accrued compensation and accrued expenses. The fair value of the Company’s convertible notes payable is estimated based on current rates that would be available for debt of similar terms which is not significantly different from its stated value.

On January 1, 2009, the Company applied FAS No. 157, “Fair Value Measurements” (FAS 157), for all non-financial assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a non-recurring basis in accordance with FASB Staff Position (FSP) FAS 157-2, “Effective Date of FAS 157” (FSP 157-2), which postponed the effective date of FAS 157 for those assets and liabilities to fiscal years beginning after November 15, 2008, which for the Company is January 1, 2009. The application of FSP 157-2 did not have an impact on the Company’s financial position or results of operations.

Income taxes – Income taxes are provided for the tax effects of transactions reported in the financial statements and consist of taxes currently due plus deferred taxes resulting from temporary differences. Such temporary differences result from differences in the carrying value of assets and liabilities for tax and financial reporting purposes. The deferred tax assets and liabilities represent the future tax consequences of those differences, which will either be taxable or deductible when the assets and liabilities are recovered or settled. Valuation allowances are established when necessary to reduce deferred tax assets to the amount expected to be realized.

The Company has adopted the provisions of FASB Interpretation No. 48, “Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes”. The Company has not recognized a liability as a result of the implementation of Interpretation 48. A reconciliation of the beginning and ending amount of unrecognized tax benefits has not been provided since there is no unrecognized benefit since the date of adoption. The Company has not recognized interest expense or penalties as a result of the implementation of Interpretation 48.

Loss per share – Basic loss per share is computed by dividing net loss attributable to common stockholders by the weighted average common shares outstanding for the period. Diluted loss per share is computed giving effect to all potentially dilutive common shares. Potentially dilutive common shares may consist of incremental shares issuable upon the exercise of stock options and warrants. In periods in which a net loss has been incurred, all potentially dilutive common shares are considered antidilutive and thus are excluded from the calculation. At March 31, 2009 and 2008, the Company had 30,520,161 and 24,338,849 potentially dilutive common shares, respectively, which were not included in the computation of loss per share.

Recent accounting pronouncements

In December 2007, the FASB issued SFAS 141(R), “Business Combinations,” effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2008. SFAS 141(R) changed the accounting treatment for business combinations on a prospective basis. SFAS 141(R) requires that all assets, liabilities, contingent considerations and contingencies of an acquired business be recorded at fair value at the acquisition date. SFAS 141(R) also requires that acquisition costs be expensed as incurred and restructuring costs be expensed in periods after the acquisition date. SFAS 141(R) will only affect the Company’s financial condition or results of operations to the extent it has business combinations after the effective date.

In April 2009, the FASB issued three FSP's intended to provide additional application guidance and enhance disclosures regarding fair value measurements and impairments of securities, all of which are effective for interim and annual periods ending after June 15, 2009. FSP FAS 157-4, "Determining Fair Value When the Volume and Level of Activity for the Asset or Liability Have Significantly Decreased and Identifying Transactions That Are Not Orderly," provides guidelines for making fair value measurements more consistent with the principles presented in SFAS 157 when the volume and level of activity of an asset or liability have significantly decreased from normal market activity. FSP FAS 107-1 and APB 28-1, "Interim Disclosures about Fair Value of Financial Instruments," requires interim reporting of fair value disclosures. FSP FAS 115-2 and FAS 124-2, "Recognition and Presentation of Other-Than-Temporary Impairments," provides additional guidance in determining whether a debt security is other-than-temporarily impaired and expands the disclosures of other-than-temporarily impaired debt and equity securities. The adoption of each of these FSPs is not expected to have a material effect on the Company's financial condition, results of operations or cash flows.

Other recent accounting pronouncements issued by FASB (including EITF), the AICPA and the SEC did not or are not believed by management to have a material impact on the Company's present or future financial statements.

4. Notes Payable

Notes payable consist of the following at March 31, 2009:

Convertible notes payable; interest at 9%; maturing from December 2008 to October 2009, collateralized by the Company's patents and patent applications	$ 2,275,000
Note payable to a related party; non-interest bearing; due on demand; unsecured	5,624
Current portion of notes payable	$ 2,280,624

Convertible Notes Payable

During December 2007 and January 2008, the Company issued convertible promissory notes (the "Convertible Notes") and warrants to purchase common stock in exchange for proceeds totaling $2,950,000. The Convertible Notes bear interest at 9% per annum and have stated maturity dates from December 2008 to January 2009. The Convertible Notes are repayable in cash or convertible into shares of the Company's stock at a rate of one share per $0.20 of outstanding principle and interest. Warrants to purchase 14,750,000 shares of the Company's common stock accompanying the Convertible Notes are subject to certain limitations, exercisable at $0.25 per share, vest immediately, and expire between December 2012 and January 2013.

The Convertible Notes contain an embedded conversion feature. The Company accounted for this conversion feature and detachable warrants in accordance with EITF Issue No. 98-5, "Accounting for Securities with Beneficial Conversion Feature or Contingently Adjustable Conversion Ratio," and EITF Issue No. 00-27, "Application of Issue No. 98-5 to Certain Convertible Instruments." In accordance with these standards, the Company allocated the proceeds from issuance of the convertible notes to the beneficial conversion feature and the warrants based on their relative fair values. The Company considered EITF No. 00-19 and concluded that the warrants should be recorded as a component of permanent equity.

To recognize the fair value of the warrants, the Company discounted the notes and increased additional paid in capital. The fair value of the beneficial conversion feature of $1,383,437 and discount of $1,566,563 were amortized over the term of the Convertible Notes. For the three months ended March 31, 2009 and 2008, the Company recognized interest expense from the amortization of the beneficial conversion feature and discount of $30,136 and $703,973, respectively.

The following table presents a reconciliation of the proceeds received from the financing to the carrying value of the Convertible Notes:

Principal balance of convertible notes	$ 2,950,000
Relative fair value of the warrants	(1,566,563)
Beneficial conversion feature	(1,383,437)

Notes. The Company is currently proposing that the Convertible Note holders either (i) convert their notes into shares at this time in exchange for additional warrants or (ii) extend the maturity of the Convertible Notes and continue to accrue interest. In December 2008 three investors extended the term of their Convertible Notes and in the three month period ending March 31, 2009 two investors extended the term of their Convertible Notes. 5. Related Party Transactions

The Company rents a building that is owned by two stockholders of the Company, one of which is the Chief Executive Officer. Base rent expense is $3,800 per month. The Company recognized rent expense of $12,198 in each of the three-month periods ended March 31, 2009 and 2008. These amounts are not necessarily indicative of the amounts that would have been incurred had comparable transactions been entered into with independent parties. However, at the time the Company entered into the lease agreement, based on then current economic conditions, the real estate market, and the Company's prospects, the Company believed that the lease was on terms no less favorable to the Company than could generally be obtained from independent parties.

The Company also has accrued compensation due to the Chief Executive Officer and one other employee for deferred salaries earned and unpaid as of March 31, 2009 of $1,206,939.

The Company regularly grants equity awards to management and the Board of Directors as compensation for their services under the compensation plan described in Note 6.

6. Stock Options and Warrants

The 2000 Plan permits grants of options of common shares authorized and approved by the Company's Board of Directors for issuance prior to enactment of the 2000 Plan.

The following summarizes the information relating to outstanding stock options activity during the three months ended March 31, 2009:

Between December 11, 2008 and January 21, 2009, all amounts due under the Convertible Notes matured and became due and payable in full. The Company has not repaid any of the amounts due under the respective Convertible Notes. Certain investors have extended the maturity dates of their notes or converted their notes to common stock

The Company entered into an agreement with the holders of the Convertible Notes to file a registration statement within a defined timeframe. The Company will incur penalties and damages of up to approximately $236,000 if it does not file and keep the registration statement effective pursuant to the terms of this agreement. As of March 31, 2009, the Company has recorded a liability of $41,000 related to this agreement.

Summary of Three Months Ended March 31, 2009 Results of Operations

REVENUES: Total revenues for the three months ended March 31, 2009 and 2008 were $157,353 and $213,511 respectively, a decrease of $56,158 or 26.3%. The decrease in revenues in the 2009 period is primarily attributable to the cancellation or delay by customers in the delivery of orders totaling $253,000. The aforementioned orders were cancelled or delayed, per customers, due to the intended end recipients' delay or cancellation of projects as a result of the economic downturn. During the three months ended March 31, 2009 and 2008, three and two customers accounted for approximately 69% and 73% of revenues, respectively

COST OF GOODS SOLD: Cost of goods sold decreased $53,333 to $106,600 and represented 67.7% of revenues, for the three months ended March 31, 2009 compared to $159,933 or 74.9% of revenues for the three months ended March 31, 2008. The decrease in 2009 is primarily attributable to a decrease in the cost of materials due to lower sales and implementation by the Company of improvements to the production process of certain product components.

SELLING, GENERAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSES: Selling, general and administrative expenses of $543,378 for the three months ended March 31, 2009 decreased $862,378 from $1,405,749 in the same period of 2008 or 65.7%. This decrease is primarily due to a decrease in stock based compensation awards of approximately $800,000 from the 2008 period coupled with an increase in payroll expenses of approximately $47,000 in the 2009 period.

INTEREST EXPENSE: Interest expense was $156,197 for the three months ended March 31, 2009 compared to $859,220 for the same period of 2008, a decrease of $703,023. During the three months ended March 31, 2009, interest expense was comprised of amounts related to convertible notes issued from December 2007 to January 2008, including approximately $62,000 of interest payable to the note holders, loan cost amortization of approximately $1,000, $30,000 for the amortization of the note discount and embedded beneficial conversion feature, described in Note 4 to the Condensed Financial Statements and approximately $63,000 in expense relating to warrants issued to induce conversion of principal and interest accrued on two convertible notes having a principal value of $675,000. Interest expense for the three months ended March 31, 2008 relates primarily to amortization of the beneficial conversion feature and discount on outstanding notes payable. The decrease in interest expense is due to the fact that the beneficial conversion feature and discount on the notes payable became fully amortized during the three months ended March 31, 2009.

NET LOSS: Net loss for the three months ended March 31, 2009 decreased by $1,551,849 to $648,786 from $2,200,635 for the three months ended March 31, 2008. The decrease in net loss is primarily due to the decrease in cost of sales, selling, general and administrative expenses and interest expense discussed above.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

The Company finances its operations primarily through sales of its ConsERV™ products, sales of its common stock, the issuance of convertible promissory notes and license agreements.

Our historical revenues have not been sufficient to sustain our operations. We have not achieved profitability in any year since inception and we expect to continue to incur net losses and negative cash flow from operations until we can produce sufficient revenues to cover our costs, which is not expected for several years. Furthermore, even if we achieve our projection of selling a greater number of ConsERV™ units, we anticipate that we will continue to incur losses until we can cost-effectively produce and sell our products to a wider market. Our profitability will require the successful commercialization of our ConsERV™ products and any future products we develop. No assurances can be given when this will occur.

In December 2008 and January 2008 we issued $2,950,000 of one year Convertible Notes. At March 31, 2009, we had outstanding debt from 9% convertible secured promissory notes of $2,275,000 plus related interest. The notes matured commencing in December 2008 through January 2009. We did not have adequate funds to repay the notes upon maturity. The notes are secured by all of the Company's patents and the majority of the Company's patent applications. . Certain investors with outstanding principal balances of approximately $450,000 at December 31, 2008, notified the Company that they are asserting their rights to receive payment of the principal and interest pursuant to the terms of the Convertible Notes. The Company is currently proposing that the Convertible Note holders either (i) convert their notes into shares at this time in exchange for additional warrants or (ii) extend the maturity of the Convertible Notes and continue to accrue interest. In December 2008 three investors agreed to extend the term of their Convertible Notes and in the three month period ending March 31, 2009 two investors agreed to extended the term of their Convertible Notes. The total face value of these Convertible Notes is $ 375,000 of which $250,000 in face value was extended to September of 2009 and the remainder to October of 2009. During the three month period ending March 31, 2009 two investors converted the principal balance of $675,000 plus accrued interest of $72,955 on their Convertible Notes into 3,739,778 shares of common stock. The Company may not be able to secure additional financing to repay the notes on acceptable terms, if at all, and we are currently unable to pay the notes that have matured. As an alternative, management may attempt to renegotiate the repayment terms of the notes and seek extension of the maturity dates. There is no guarantee that any re-negotiated terms we may be able to secure would be favorable to the Company. Unfavorable terms, in either a financing transaction or debt renegotiation, would adversely impact our business, financial condition and/or results of operations. In the event (i) we are unable to secure additional financing sufficient to pay the notes, (ii) the notes are not converted into shares of our common stock pursuant to their terms, or (iii) we are not able to negotiate extensions to the maturity dates of the notes, note holders will have the option to foreclose on all of our patents and those patent applications securing the notes, which would likely result in the failure of our business.

Any future financing may result in substantial dilution to existing shareholders, and future debt financing, if available, may include restrictive covenants or may require us to grant a lender a security interest in any of our assets not already subject to an existing security interest. To the extent that we attempt to raise additional funds through third party collaborations and/or licensing arrangements, we may be required to relinquish some rights to our technologies or products currently in various stages of development, or grant licenses or other rights on terms that are not favorable to us. Any failure by us to timely procure additional financing or investment adequate to fund our ongoing operations, including planned product development initiatives and commercialization efforts, will have material adverse consequences on our financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

We will be dependent upon our existing cash of $11,757, together with a $125,000 unsecured loan received in April 2009, product sales and additional debt and equity issuances to finance our operations through the next 12 months. We plan to raise additional capital of approximately $13 to $18 million, net of offering costs, during the next nine to twelve months, the proceeds of which will be used to pay down existing debt, secure new patents for innovative applications of our core technology, purchase equipment, and fund our working capital requirements through March 31, 2010. We currently have no commitments for any such funds.

Our ability to continue as a going concern is highly dependent on our ability to obtain additional sources of cash flow sufficient fund our working capital requirements, including repayment of our debt obligations. We intend to finance our operations, including the repayment of notes payable, primarily through private sales of debt and equity securities, licensing revenues, and sales of non-core uses of our technology. Any failure by us to timely secure the cash flow adequate to fund our debt obligations and ongoing operations will have a materially adverse consequence on our financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

Statement of Cash Flows

During the three months ended March 31, 2008, the cash flows provided by financing activities was mainly attributable to the issuance of notes payable and the release of cash from escrow.

ECONOMY AND INFLATION

Except as disclosed herein, we have not experienced any significant cancellation of orders due to the downturn in the economy and only a small number of customers requested delays in delivery or production of orders in process. Our management believes that inflation has not had a material effect on our results of operations.
