Edgar Filing: HOOKER FURNITURE CORP - Form 8-K

On November 3, 2010, Hooker Furniture Corporation decided to transfer and consolidate the Cherryville, NC operations and corporate offices of its Bradington-Young domestic upholstery finished goods production from Cherryville to Hickory, NC. This move will consolidate Bradington-Young's domestic upholstery finished goods production at its Hickory plant. Hooker Furniture decided to undertake the consolidation in response to the lagging recovery, continued softness in purchases of consumer durables and the emergence of a more value conscious consumer with the intent to enhance Bradington-Young's long-term competitiveness and maximize efficiencies by utilizing the newer, more efficient operations and resources available at Bradington-Young's Hickory facility.

Management met with the affected employees and announced the consolidation on November 8, 2010. The majority of the 121 full-time employees from the Cherryville facility will be offered transfers to the newly consolidated Hickory facility. Additionally, Cherryville corporate office employees will be offered transfers to an administration and support facility near the Hickory plant. However, some positions in Cherryville will be eliminated due to redundancy with those at the Hickory operation. Bradington-Young's leather cutting and sewing operations will remain in its separate, existing cover plant in Cherryville due to the specialized nature of that auxiliary plant for the storing, cutting and sewing of leather. The Cherryville leather cutting and sewing plant will supply the newly consolidated Hickory plant. Upon completion of the consolidation, Bradington-Young expects to save approximately $1 million annually in operating expenses.

Bradington-Young plans to implement the consolidation over the next 60 days and expects to be complete by mid- January 2011. Once the consolidation is finalized, management expects the Hickory plant to be operating at close to its capacity.

In connection with the consolidation, Hooker Furniture expects to record total restructuring and related asset impairment charges of approximately $1.7 million pretax ($1.1 million after tax, or $0.10 per share) as follows:

- Non-cash asset impairment charges of approximately $1.3 million pretax ($858,000 after tax, or $0.08 per share) to write down the Cherryville facility's real and personal property to estimated fair market value, which are expected to be recorded in the fiscal 2011 fourth quarter;
- Severance and benefit costs of approximately $312,000 pretax ($206,000 after tax, or $0.02 per share), which are expected to be recorded in the fiscal 2011 fourth quarter; and
- Disassembly costs and moving costs of approximately $40,000, which are expected to be expensed as incurred during the fiscal 2011 fourth quarter.

Hooker Furniture expects future cash expenditures related to the consolidation to be approximately $352,000, which consists of the severance and benefit costs and the disassembly and moving costs which are detailed above.

A copy of the press release announcing the consolidation of the Bradington-Young manufacturing operation is furnished as Exhibit 99.1 hereto.
