Regulatory Developments: The ultimate impact of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System's (the Federal Reserve) recently proposed rules requiring U.S. global systemically important banks (U.S. G-SIBs) to maintain minimum amounts of long-term debt meeting specified eligibility requirements is uncertain. On October 30, 2015, the Federal Reserve released for comment proposed rules (referred to as the TLAC Rules) that would require the eight U.S. G-SIBs, including The Bank of New York Mellon Corporation (the Company), among other things, to maintain minimum amounts of long-term debt (LTD) satisfying certain eligibility criteria commencing January 1, 2019. As proposed, the TLAC Rules would disqualify from eligible LTD, among other instruments, senior debt securities that permit acceleration for reasons other than insolvency or payment default, as well as structured notes and debt securities not governed by U.S. law. The currently outstanding senior LTD of U.S. G-SIBs, including the Company, typically permits acceleration for reasons other than insolvency or payment default and, as a result, none of such outstanding senior LTD, any subsequently issued senior LTD with similar terms, or the Notes would qualify as eligible LTD under the proposed rules. The Federal Reserve has requested comment on whether currently outstanding instruments should be allowed to count as eligible LTD despite containing features that would be prohibited under the proposal. The steps that the U.S. G-SIBs, including the Company, may need to take to come into compliance with the final TLAC Rules, including the amount and form of LTD that must be refinanced or issued, will depend in substantial part on the ultimate eligibility requirements for senior LTD and any grandfathering provisions.

Defeasance: The defeasance and covenant defeasance provisions of the Senior Indenture described under Description of Senior Debt Securities and Senior Subordinated Debt Securities Debt Securities Issued by the Company under the Senior Indenture or the Senior Subordinated Indenture Legal Defeasance and Covenant Defeasance in the Prospectus will apply to the Notes.

United States Federal Income Tax Consequences: Payments of interest on the Notes are potentially subject to the FATCA withholding discussed on page S-32 of the accompanying prospectus supplement. Payments of gross proceeds from a sale or other disposition of the Notes may also be subject to FATCA withholding unless such disposition occurs before January 1, 2019. Holders should read the discussion of FATCA withholding under United States Federal Income Tax Consequences Withholdable Payments to Foreign Financial Institutions and Other Foreign Entities on page S-32 of the accompanying prospectus supplement and consult their own tax advisors regarding the relevant U.S. law and other official guidance on FATCA withholding.
