LEADING PROXY ADVISORY FIRMS ISS AND GLASS LEWIS RECOMMEND THAT SUPERIOR INDUSTRIES

STOCKHOLDERS VOTE THE WHITE PROXY CARD FOR ALL OF SUPERIOR S DIRECTOR NOMINEES

ISS and Glass Lewis Recognize Superior s Progress to Improve Operational and Financial Performance

Superior Urges Stockholders to Follow ISS and Glass Lewis Recommendations and Vote on the WHITE Proxy Card

SOUTHFIELD, MICHIGAN April 13, 2016 Superior Industries International, Inc. (NYSE: SUP), the largest manufacturer of aluminum wheels for passenger cars and light-duty vehicles in North America, today announced that Institutional Shareholder Services Inc. (ISS) and Glass Lewis & Co., leading independent proxy advisory firms, have recommended to their clients that Superior stockholders vote the WHITE proxy card FOR ALL eight of Superior s director nominees Michael R. Bruynesteyn, Margaret S. Dano, Jack A. Hockema, Paul J. Humphries, James S. McElya, Timothy C. McQuay, Donald J. Stebbins and Francisco S. Uranga standing for election at the Annual Meeting of Shareholders to be held on April 26, 2016. Both ISS and Glass Lewis clients include institutional investors, mutual funds, pension funds and other fiduciaries. As previously announced, GAMCO Asset Management Inc. (GAMCO) is waging a proxy contest to elect its own director candidates to the Superior Board, despite the failure of similar attempts in 2013, 2014 and 2015.

Commenting on the ISS and Glass Lewis reports, Superior issued the following statement:

We are pleased with ISS and Glass Lewis recommendations and that both firms recognized the strength of our director nominees and the progress they have helped guide. As we have consistently stated, we do not believe that any of GAMCO s nominees can be said to have experience comparable to that of any of the three highly qualified and very experienced members of the Superior Board that GAMCO is seeking to replace. As was the case with GAMCO s previous three unsuccessful proxy contests against Superior, we do not believe that any of GAMCO s nominees would bring to Superior s Board any relevant insights, perspectives, skills or competencies not already present among the current members of the Superior Board.

In its April 12, 2016 report, ISS recognized that GAMCO has not made a compelling case that change at the Board level is warranted. In addition, ISS highlighted the significant and numerous financial improvements that have recently occurred at Superior. ISS noted:

EBITDA has improved at a 3-year Compound Annual Growth Rate (CAGR) of 9.2 percent, from $59.2 million in FY2012 to $77.2 million in FY2015, with the most significant increase coming in the last year. EBITDA margin meaningfully improved over the same period as well, from 7.4 percent in FY2012 to 9.8 percent in FY2015. These improvements appear to demonstrate the sustained, disciplined execution on a turnaround plan which the board touts .

Furthermore, ISS took note of the Superior Board's commitment to improving operating metrics and the reworking of a labor model to develop financial flexibility. ISS stated:

What may be more compelling is how some of these improvements in operating metrics, like quality, and financial inputs, like lower non-material cost per wheel, have been achieved. Moving production to lower-cost environments, while simple enough in concept, requires substantial commitment over an extended period of time. Reworking a labor model to introduce financial flexibility for the ebb and flow of order flow may seem much simpler, and potentially easier but in reality also requires extensive planning to avoid a morass of execution issues. That both of these were done even as quality improved, therefore, is much more compelling a statement about the board's oversight than any one of these factors individually and perhaps even more compelling, since they drive it, than the high-level fact of improving EBITDA and EBITDA margins, which are now the highest of the past five years.

Separately, in its April 12, 2016 report, Glass Lewis noted the following:

Having thoroughly evaluated GAMCO's arguments, we do not believe it has made a sufficiently detailed or compelling case that change to the composition of the board is warranted at this time. We also found that the board has been sufficiently refreshed with additional well-qualified directors over the last several years and that it appears receptive to shareholders' concerns. In contrast, GAMCO provides little insight into the nature of its concerns at the Company or how the Dissident Nominees might address these concerns.

Given their [the GAMCO nominees] lack of ownership [in Superior stock] and the vague and conditional nature of their intention to acquire shares if elected, we see no reason to believe the interests of the Dissident Nominees would be better aligned with shareholders than would those of the Management Nominees.

Additionally, Glass Lewis took note of Superior's refreshed and highly qualified Board of Directors:

We find little basis to support the Dissident's assertion that additional fresh perspective or capital allocation expertise on the Superior Industries board is warranted at this time. We believe the incumbent board includes sufficient fresh perspective, as four new directors, representing half of the incumbent board, were appointed in the last two years, including one new director appointed in 2015 (Mr. Bruynesteyn) and three new directors appointed in 2014 (Messrs. Stebbins, Hockema and Humphries). Moreover, the average tenure of the incumbent directors is approximately four years and the longest tenure is only nine years. In this case, we believe the incumbent board strikes a reasonable balance between fresh perspective and continuity. We also believe the board has sufficiently addressed any concern the Dissident may have with the capital markets experience of the board through the appointment of Mr. Bruynesteyn as a director in 2015.

In addition to backing Superior's Board nominees, Glass Lewis also noted its support for Superior's executive compensation. Glass Lewis stated:

[W]e believe the recent changes enacted by the Company, including diversifying the metrics under the STI and LTI plans for fiscal 2016, should aid in the alignment of compensation and performance results going forward.

Superior stockholders are reminded that their vote is extremely important, no matter how many or how few shares they own. Superior urges stockholders to vote FOR ALL eight of Superior's director nominees Michael R. Bruynesteyn, Margaret S. Dano, Jack A. Hockema, Paul J. Humphries, James S. McElya, Timothy C. McQuay, Donald J. Stebbins and Francisco S. Uranga on the WHITE proxy card today.

Stockholders may vote by returning the WHITE proxy card or by phone or Internet by following the instructions on the WHITE proxy card they have received. Stockholders are urged to discard any blue proxy card or voting instruction card they may have received from GAMCO. Even a WITHHOLD vote with respect to GAMCO's nominees on its blue proxy card will cancel any proxy previously given to Superior. If a stockholder previously signed a blue proxy card sent by GAMCO, that proxy card can be revoked by voting a new WHITE proxy card for the Board's recommended nominees. Only the latest-dated proxy will count.

Superior is being advised in connection with the proxy contest by Winston & Strawn, LLP. Okapi Partners LLC is serving as Superior's proxy solicitor.
