- (1) Includes $757,000 gain on extinguishment of debt during the first quarter ended September 30, 2003
- (2) Earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization

Since June 30, 2003, the Company has added, on an annualized basis, approximately 8.0 million gallons of net new business, which would, if sustained, result in an expected 55.0 million gallons delivered for the year ending June 30, 2004, a 16% increase over the 47.5 million gallons delivered in the fiscal year 2003.

For the nine months ended March 31, 2004, the net margin per gallon was 9.3 cents per gallon compared to 11.5 cents per gallon in fiscal 2003. The Company attributes the lower net margin per gallon this year to two factors: (1) a lower average service charge per gallon; and (2) higher direct operating costs (including personnel training and equipment relocation expense) arising from the Company's expansion in existing markets and into new markets. The lower average service charge per gallon was originally caused by aggressive price-cutting by a financially distressed competitor, which has since discontinued business. Management believes that this residual effect lingers because of steadily rising fuel prices, which have put pressure on mobile fueling customers to control costs by resisting service fee increases. The Company continues to believe, however, that pricing for mobile fueling services will increase as existing and potential customers better recognize that the Company's service fees represent a cost savings to refueling alternatives.

Earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization ("EBITDA") increased by over $135,000 and $875,000 in the three and nine-month periods compared to a year ago. The Company's increased EBITDA in the current periods reflects improvement in cash flow generated by the Company before debt service payments and capital expenditures. EBITDA is a key indicator used by management and the financial community to gauge the Company's financial performance and utilization of its capital resources. Cash and cash availability under the Company's $10 million bank line of credit also increased from $390,000 at June 30, 2003 to $3,512,000 at March 31, 2004.

Richard E. Gathright, Chairman, CEO and President of the Company commented,

"We continue to expand the business by adding new customers in our existing markets and by opening up new geographical regions and contiguous cities. During April 2004, the Company extended its operations in North Carolina to additional cities and commenced service in the State of Maryland. Our business is now being conducted from 17 locations in seven states allowing us to offer multiple market service to an increasing number of its customers. As this expansion program progresses, the Company is pursuing business alliances to better utilize its asset base, absorb fixed operating costs and leverage management expertise, including providing logistical services to third parties for supply and distribution of petroleum products. We are also actively looking at potential acquisitions which would be complementary to our existing business, and expand our product line and customer base."
