the Benchmark Indices (if one, two, three or all of the Benchmark Indices are in a positive trend), or conversely, the Index may have exposure only to the Cash Rate (if all Benchmark Indices are in a negative trend), or a combination thereof.

Quarterly Rebalancing: The Index was created on July 11, 2011. On that date and on the last Index business day of each March, June, September and December (each, a "quarterly rebalancing date") thereafter, the weight of each Benchmark Index (or the corresponding weight allocated to the Cash Rate if such Benchmark Index is in a negative trend) within the Index is 25%. However, for each Index business day between quarterly rebalancing dates, the weight of each Benchmark Index (or the corresponding weight allocated to the Cash Rate if such Benchmark Index is in a negative trend) will fluctuate based on the percentage increase or decrease in the closing level of such Benchmark Index (or the return on the Cash Rate, as the case may be) from the prior Index business day.

The RBS BRIC Trendpilot[™] Notes (the "Notes") are unsecured and unsubordinated obligations of The Royal Bank of Scotland plc ("RBS plc") and are fully and unconditionally guaranteed by The Royal Bank of Scotland Group plc ("RBS Group").

THE INDEX

BRIC -- Emerging Market Exposure: The Notes track the RBS BRIC Trendpilot[™] Index which provides exposure to the Brazil, Russia, India and China emerging equity markets in positive-trending markets (as described below).

Trend--Following Strategy: The Index utilizes a systematic trend-following strategy to provide exposure to four BNY Mellon([R]) indices or the hypothetical notional investment in 3-month U.S. Treasury bills as of the most recent weekly auction (the "Cash Rate"), or a combination thereof, depending on the performance of each Benchmark Index relative to its historical 100-day simple moving average.

Equally Weighted Quarterly: At the end of each quarter, the weight of each Benchmark Index (or the corresponding weight allocated to the Cash Rate if such Benchmark Index is in a negative trend) within the Index is 25%; however, these weights will fluctuate between quarters, as described under "Quarterly Rebalancing" below.

RBS BRIC TRENDPILOT[™] INDEX METHODOLOGY

| For Each Benchmark Index: If the level of such Benchmark Index is at or above its historical 100-day simple moving average for five (5) consecutive Index business days | A positive trend is established: the Index will track such Benchmark Index with respect to that portion of the Index allocated to such Benchmark Index |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

| For Each Benchmark Index: If the level of such Benchmark Index is below its historical 100-day simple moving average for five (5) consecutive Index business days | A negative trend is established: the Index will track the Cash Rate with respect to that portion of the Index allocated to the negative-trending Benchmark Index |

For each of the Benchmark Indices, if neither of the above conditions is satisfied, the trend of such Benchmark Index will be the same as the trend of such Benchmark Index on the immediately preceding Index business day. For each Benchmark Index, the Index will implement any trend reversal at the open of trading on the second Index business day immediately following the Index business day on which such Benchmark Index trend switches from positive to

SECTOR AND HOLDINGS BREAKDOWN (07/06/11)

(1) Based on standard industry classifications (2) Source: BNY Mellon[R]
The four BNY Mellon([R]) indices that comprise the RBS BRIC Trendpilot[TM] Index are composed of depositary receipts, which are generally quoted and traded in U.S. dollars on The New York Stock Exchange (NYSE), The NYSE Amex, NASDAQ Stock Market (NASDAQ) or the London Stock Exchange, either in American (ADR) or global (GDR) form. Each depositary receipt generally represents an ownership interest in shares (or fractions of a share) of an underlying stock that is quoted and traded in its local jurisdiction (specifically, Brazil, Russia, India and China) in a foreign currency (specifically, the Brazilian real, the Russian ruble, the Indian rupee and the Chinese renminbi, as the case may be). Depositary receipts are included in the four Benchmark Indices based, among other things, on their market capitalization and liquidity.

CERTAIN RISK CONSIDERATIONS: The Notes involve risks not associated with an investment in conventional debt securities, including a possible loss of some or all of your investment. The level of the Index must increase by an amount sufficient to offset the aggregate investor fee applicable to the Notes in order for you to receive at least the principal amount of your investment back at maturity or upon early repurchase or redemption. The Index may underperform any or all of the Benchmark Indices, and is expected to perform poorly in volatile markets. The Notes involve risks associated with an investment in the emerging markets, as well as currency exchange risk. There is currently no secondary market for the Notes. The Notes do not pay interest. Any payment on the Notes is subject to the ability of RBS plc, as the issuer, and RBS Group, as the guarantor, to pay their respective obligations when they become due. You should carefully consider whether the Notes are suited to your particular circumstances before you decide to purchase them. We urge you to consult with your investment, legal, accounting, tax and other advisors with respect to any investment in the Notes.

The Notes are not suitable for all investors. You should carefully read the relevant pricing supplement and prospectus, including the more detailed explanation of the risks involved in any investment in the Notes as described in the "Risk Factors" section of the pricing supplement, before investing.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION: The Royal Bank of Scotland plc (RBS plc) and The Royal Bank of Scotland Group plc (RBS Group) have filed a registration statement (including a prospectus) with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) for the offering of Notes to which this communication relates. Before you invest in any Notes, you should read the prospectus in that registration statement and other documents that have been filed by RBS plc and RBS Group with the SEC for more complete information about RBS plc and RBS Group, and the offering. You may get these documents for free by visiting EDGAR on the SEC's web site at www.sec.gov. Alternatively, RBS plc, RBS Group, RBS Securities Inc. (RBSSI) or any dealer participating in the relevant offering will arrange to send you the prospectus and the pricing supplement at no charge if you request it by calling 1-855-RBS-3877 (toll-free).
