On March 1, 2007, First Solar, Inc. ( "First Solar" ) announced the appointment of Bruce Sohn (45) as President of First Solar.

Mr. Sohn was formerly a senior executive at Intel Corporation. During his 24 years at Intel, Mr. Sohn played a leadership role in developing and manufacturing leading-edge semiconductor technology. He served as an integral part of the start-up team at five fabs, acted as program manager for Intel's conversion to 300mm wafers and managed two of Intel's largest fabs. Mr. Sohn is a Materials Science and Engineering graduate from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, a senior member of the IEEE and a certified Jonah. He has been a guest lecturer at MIT, Stanford and other universities. Mr. Sohn was elected a director of First Solar in July 2003.

Mr. Sohn will report to First Solar's Chief Executive Officer and will receive an annual base salary of $350,000 (subject to annual review) and standard First Solar benefits, including four weeks of vacation per year. Mr. Sohn is also eligible to receive a discretionary annual bonus of up to 70% of his annual base salary. In connection with the commencement of his employment, Mr. Sohn will receive a sign-on payment of First Solar common stock with an aggregate fair market value of $50,000 and a separate cash payment of $60,000 to defray moving expenses. In addition, upon or shortly after the commencement of his employment, First Solar will grant Mr. Sohn options to purchase 150,000 shares of common stock, exercisable at fair market value on the date of grant as determined by the Board. The options will vest with respect to 20 percent of the underlying shares each year on the anniversary of the effective grant date, commencing on the first anniversary of the effective grant date. The options will be subject to the additional terms of grant approved by the Board and the First Solar Omnibus Equity Incentive Equity Plan currently in effect. First Solar will also provide Mr. Sohn with a comprehensive relocation package that covers expenses both on the sale of his current home and purchase of his future home in connection with his new location in Phoenix, Arizona, and for approximately 6 to 9 months, will reimburse Mr. Sohn for business travel expenses for travel between Mr. Sohn's current home in Albuquerque, New Mexico and Phoenix.
