6. RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE COMPANY TO PURCHASE AND USE ITS OWN SHARES.

The Board of Management and the Supervisory Board propose the following resolution:

- a) The resolution adopted concerning item 6 on the agenda of the Shareholders' Meeting on May 20, 2003, authorizing the Company to purchase its own shares is rescinded with effect from the end of the Shareholders' Meeting on May 18, 2004, if the authorization has not yet been made use of, and replaced by the authorization set forth below on the Company's purchase of its own shares:

The redemption shall lead to a capital reduction. With the consent of the Supervisory Board, the Board of Management may determine otherwise, i.e., that the capital stock remains unchanged upon redemption and instead that the proportion of the remaining shares in the capital stock is increased through redemption pursuant to sec. 8 (3) AktG. In such a case, the Board of Management is authorized to amend the number of shares stated in the Articles of Incorporation.
- g) The Board of Management is authorized to offer the shares of Deutsche Telekom AG, which are purchased on the strength of the authorization above, to shareholders for subscription on the basis of an offer sent to all the shareholders without prejudice to their subscription rights and without prejudice to the principle of equal treatment of shareholders (sec. 53a AktG).

- (5) Members of the Supervisory Board who are on the Supervisory Board for only part of the financial year in question shall receive one twelfth of the remuneration for every month of membership or part thereof. The same shall apply to the increase in remuneration for the Supervisory Board Chairman and Deputy Chairman pursuant to (2) hereof and to the increase in remuneration for Supervisory Board committee membership or chairmanship pursuant to (3) hereof.
- (6) Remuneration pursuant to 1 (a) and (b) hereof and the attendance fee shall fall due at the end of the shareholders' meeting to which the consolidated financial statements for the financial year in question are presented or which decides on its approval. - (9) If the total number of the Corporation's no par value shares changes after the start of the 2004 financial year as a result of a share split, a combining of no par value shares or a capital increase from the Corporation's own resources by issuing new no par value shares (capital transaction), the relevant number of no par value shares pursuant to (7) sentence 2 hereof used for the purpose of calculating net income per no par value share shall be adjusted for every such capital transaction that occurs prior to the date that is decisive for the calculation in order to avoid a dilution effect. The adjustment shall be made by multiplying the relevant number of shares with the quotient obtained by dividing the total number of no par value shares in existence immediately prior to the capital transaction by the total number of no par value shares in existence immediately after the capital transaction.

The Board of Management and the Supervisory Board propose the following resolution:

Sec. 14 (1) of the Articles of Incorporation is amended as follows:

REPORTS TO THE SHAREHOLDERS' MEETING

REPORT REGARDING ITEM 6 ON THE AGENDA: REPORT ON THE EXCLUSION OF SUBSCRIPTION RIGHTS IN THE EVENT OF THE SALE OF THE COMPANY'S OWN SHARES PURSUANT TO SECTIONS 71 (1) NO. 8, 186 (4) SENTENCE 2 AKTG.

Item 6 on the agenda contains the proposal to authorize the Company to acquire up to 419,775,242 of its own shares - representing just under 10 % of the capital stock - by November 17, 2005 pursuant to sec. 71 (1) No. 8 AktG. The existing authorization granted by the Shareholders' Meeting on May 20, 2003, is due to expire on November 19, 2004, and should therefore be replaced.

The authorization in item 6 of the agenda serves to give Deutsche Telekom AG the opportunity of purchasing its own shares directly or indirectly through dependent Group companies of Deutsche Telekom AG within the meaning of sec. 17 AktG or third parties for the account of Deutsche Telekom AG or for the account of the dependent Group companies of Deutsche Telekom AG pursuant to sec. 17 AktG and reselling these shares either through the stock exchange or by means of an offer sent to all shareholders. In addition, Deutsche Telekom AG should be able to use its own shares reacquired on the basis of the purchase authorization in order to list these shares on foreign stock markets on which the Company's shares have not yet been listed. Furthermore, the Company should have the option of acquiring its own shares so that it can offer these to third parties in the context of mergers or acquisitions of other companies, business units or interests in other companies. Moreover, Deutsche Telekom AG should be able to sell its own shares, other than through the stock exchange or by offering them to all shareholders for a cash payment, at a price which is not significantly lower than the market price. Deutsche Telekom AG should be able to redeem its own shares without a renewed resolution of the Shareholders' Meeting.

The subscription rights of the shareholders should be excluded if the Board of Management uses the reacquired shares of Deutsche Telekom AG with the approval of the Supervisory Board to list the Company's shares on foreign stock exchanges on which the shares have not yet been listed. Deutsche Telekom AG is engaged in fierce competition on the international capital markets. For its future business development, it is of crucial importance that the Company be appropriately endowed with equity capital and have the opportunity to obtain equity capital on the market at all times and under appropriate conditions. For this reason,

Edgar Filing: DEUTSCHE TELEKOM AG - Form 6-K

Deutsche Telekom AG is endeavoring to broaden its base of shareholders in other countries as well and to make investment in Company shares an attractive proposition. Deutsche Telekom AG needs to be able to tap into the world's major capital markets. The price at which the Company's own reacquired shares are introduced on foreign stock exchanges may not be more than 5 % below the market price established by the opening auction in Xetra trading of Deutsche Borse AG, or a subsequent system taking the place of the Xetra system, on the first day of listing. If on the day concerned no such market price is determined, then the last closing price of the Deutsche Telekom AG share determined in auction-based Xetra trading of Deutsche Borse AG or a subsequent system taking the place of the Xetra system shall be decisive instead.

The subscription rights of shareholders should also be excluded if the Board of Management offers the reacquired Deutsche Telekom AG shares to third parties in the context of mergers or acquisitions of companies, business units or interests in other companies with the approval of the Supervisory Board. Deutsche Telekom AG is engaged in national and global competition. It must always be in a position to act swiftly and flexibly on national and international markets. This includes the opportunity to improve its competitive position through mergers with other companies or the acquisition of companies, business units and interests in companies. The optimal exploitation of an opportunity in the interest of shareholders and the Company involves, in individual cases, carrying out the merger or the acquisition of companies, business units or interests in companies by offering the shares of the acquiring company. It has been seen in practice both on international and national markets that the shares of the acquiring company are often demanded as the consideration for attractive acquisitions. For this reason, Deutsche Telekom AG must be given the opportunity of having its own shares at its disposal so that it can offer these as a consideration in the context of mergers or acquisitions of other companies, business units or interests in other companies. The approved capital recommended in item 8 on the agenda of the Shareholders' Meeting serves this purpose on the one hand. However, it should also be possible to use the Company's own reacquired shares as an acquisition currency.

The proposed authorization is designed to give Deutsche Telekom AG the leeway it requires to swiftly and flexibly exploit opportunities for mergers or the acquisition of companies, business units or interests in other companies and in doing so to also provide its own shares as a consideration without increasing contingent capital where this is appropriate. To be able to carry out such transactions swiftly and with the necessary flexibility, the Board of Management needs to be authorized to grant its own shares, excluding the subscription rights of shareholders, with the consent of the Supervisory Board.

The price at which the Company's own repurchased shares are offered to third parties may not be more than 5 % below the market price determined by the opening auction in Xetra trading of Deutsche Borse AG - or a subsequent system taking the place of the Xetra system - on the day of the binding agreement with the third party. If on the day concerned no such market price is determined, then the last closing price of the Deutsche Telekom AG share determined in auction-based Xetra trading of Deutsche Borse AG or a subsequent system taking the place of the Xetra system shall be decisive instead.

No specific plans exist to make use of this authorization. The Board of Management shall examine each case to decide whether to apply this authorization to use the Company's own shares, to the exclusion of subscription rights, if specific opportunities for mergers or to acquire other companies, business units or interests in companies arise. The Board of Management shall only use the authorization if it is convinced that issuing Deutsche Telekom AG shares to make an acquisition is in the best interests of the Company. The Supervisory Board will only give the required consent to apply this authorization to use the Company's own shares, excluding subscription rights, if it is likewise of this conviction.

Furthermore, pursuant to sec. 71 (1) no. 8 sentence 5 AktG in conjunction with sec. 186 (3) sentence 4 AktG, the Board of Management should be authorized to sell the reacquired shares of Deutsche Telekom AG, excluding the subscription rights of the shareholders, with these shares accounting for no more than 10 % of the capital stock, with the consent of the Supervisory Board if the Board of Management sells the reacquired shares of Deutsche Telekom AG other than through the stock exchange or an offer to all shareholders for a cash payment at a price which is not significantly lower than the market price of Company shares of equal ranking on the date of sale. The price determined during the opening auction in Xetra trading of Deutsche Borse AG, or a subsequent system taking the place of the Xetra system, on the date of the binding agreement with the third party is deemed the decisive market price within the meaning of this provision. If on the day concerned no such market price is determined, then the last closing price of the Deutsche Telekom AG share determined in auction-based Xetra trading of Deutsche Borse AG or a subsequent system taking the place of the Xetra system shall be decisive instead. The final price at which Company shares are sold is set just before they are sold. Any reduction in price may not be more than 5 % of the relevant market price.

This option of selling reacquired Company shares to the exclusion of subscription rights for cash payment serves the interests of the Company to attain the best possible offering price when selling its own shares. . The option to exclude subscription rights in accordance with sec. 186 (3) sentence 4 AktG enables the Company to take advantage of opportunities arising from the respective situation at the stock markets and place shares quickly, flexibly and cost-effectively. The amount realized by setting a price close to market levels results in a considerably higher inflow of cash than would be the case if shareholders were able to exercise their subscription rights, and therefore brings about the largest possible addition of capital resources. This leads to the best possible increase of capital resources in the interests of the Company and of all shareholders. Moreover, the elimination of the need to spend time and money processing subscription rights makes it possible for the Company to take advantage of short-term market opportunities to quickly raise shareholders' equity and also to attract new groups of shareholders in Germany and abroad.

Although sec. 186 (2) sentence 2 AktG as amended by the Transparency and Disclosure Act permits the announcement of the subscription price no later than three days before the expiry of the subscription period, this also entails a risk given the volatility of the stock markets, i.e., a risk of a price change over several days which can lead to safety margins being deducted when fixing the sales price and thus to conditions which are not in line with those of the market. In addition, the Company is unable to respond quickly to favorable market conditions if a subscription right is granted due to the length of the subscription period.

This possibility of selling Company shares on the best possible conditions and without a significant subscription rights markdown is especially important for the Company because it must be able to swiftly and flexibly exploit its market opportunities that change rapidly and arise in new markets.

Edgar Filing: DEUTSCHE TELEKOM AG - Form 6-K

The proposed authorization is limited to a maximum of up to 10 % of the capital stock of the Company. The capital stock of the Company on the date of the Shareholders' Meeting on May 18, 2004 is decisive. Should the capital stock be reduced, for example through the redemption of reacquired Company shares, the amount of capital stock on the date of the sale of the shares is decisive. In calculating the limit of 10 %, that proportion of capital stock shall be deducted that relates to conversion and/or option rights and obligations from bonds issued since this authorization was granted, with subscription rights being excluded, analogous to sec. 186 (3) sentence 4 AktG. Thus the 10 % limit will be observed in respect of all authorizations where there is the option of excluding subscription rights in accordance with sec. 186 (3) sentence 4 AktG. Due to the fact that the authorization is limited to this level and the sales price for the Company's shares to be granted has to be oriented to the market price, shareholders' financial interests and voting rights are suitably safeguarded when Company shares are sold to third parties and shareholders' subscription rights excluded on the basis of the provision in sec. 71 (1) no. 8 sentence 5 in conjunction with sec. 186 (3) sentence 4 AktG.

Finally, the Board of Management should be entitled to exclude shareholder subscription rights for fractional amounts with the consent of the Supervisory Board when offering the Company shares for sale to the shareholders of the Company. The exclusion of the subscription right for fractional amounts is required to enable the practical implementation of an offer to sell acquired Company shares to the shareholders. The Company shares excluded from the shareholders' subscription rights as free fractional shares are realized by selling them on the stock exchange or elsewhere at the best price available for the Company.

Considering all the above-mentioned facts and circumstances, the Board of Management and the Supervisory Board regard the exclusion of the subscription right in the cases specified as justified and reasonable for the shareholders for the reasons given.

The Board of Management will inform the Shareholders' Meeting about the details of using the authorization to reacquire the Company's own shares.

REPORT REGARDING ITEM 8 ON THE AGENDA: REPORT ON THE EXCLUSION OF SUBSCRIPTION RIGHTS IN THE CASE OF APPROVED CAPITAL 2004 PURSUANT TO SECTIONS 186 (4), SENTENCE 2, 203 (1) SENTENCE 1 AKTG.

The approved capital 2000 existing to date (sec. 5 (2) of the Articles of Incorporation) amounting to (euro) 3,865,093,163.52 was used in May 2001 for two capital increases to the joint amount of (euro) 2,990,459,880.96. The capital increases were entered in the commercial register on May 31, 2001. The approved capital 2000 was thus reduced to (euro) 874,633,282.56. To enable the Company to continue having the flexibility it requires to respond quickly to favorable market conditions, new approved capital 2004 is to be created and the previous authorization revoked.

The new approved capital 2004 requested amounting to (euro) 2,560,000,000 constitutes approx. 23.8 % of the capital stock. The approved capital is to give the Board of Management the power to increase the capital stock 2004 with the approval of the Supervisory Board by up to (euro) 2,560,000,000 by issuing up to 1,000,000,000 registered ordinary no-par value shares for non-cash contributions in the period up to May 17, 2009. The authorization can be used for the whole amount or for partial amounts.

The Board of Management is to be authorized to exclude the shareholders' subscription rights, with the consent of the Supervisory Board, within the context of the approved capital 2004, when issuing new shares for mergers or acquisitions of companies, business units or interests in companies, including increasing existing investment holdings, or other assets eligible for contributions for such acquisitions, including claims against the Company. This authorization to exclude the subscription rights of shareholders is to give the Board of Management quick access to Company shares for mergers or the acquisition of other companies, business units, or interests in such companies or assets related to an acquisition plan without the involvement of the stock exchange.

Deutsche Telekom AG is engaged in both German and global competition. It must always be in a position to improve its competitive situation through mergers and the acquisition of companies, business units or interests in companies. This also includes increasing investments in Group companies. It is therefore imperative that the Company be able to act quickly and flexibly in both the German and international markets.

The optimal exploitation of an opportunity in the interest of shareholders and the Company involves, in individual cases, carrying out the merger or the acquisition of companies, business units or interests in companies by offering the shares of the acquiring company. It can be seen that in the case of mergers and acquisitions of companies, business units or interests in companies, large units are often involved requiring the provision of substantial considerations. Often these considerations cannot or should not be paid in cash. In fact, to ensure that the liquidity of the company is not endangered, it is better if the consideration which the company has to provide for a merger or to acquire a company, a business unit or an interest in another company, can be provided in whole or in part by the shares of the acquiring company. It has been seen in practice both on international and national markets that the shares of the acquiring company are often demanded as the consideration for attractive acquisitions.

The proposed authorization is intended to provide Deutsche Telekom AG with the necessary leeway to swiftly and flexibly exploit opportunities for mergers and the acquisition of companies, business units or interests in other companies. In addition, the authorization serves the purpose of enabling Deutsche Telekom AG to use the approved capital to offer new shares as a consideration in the context of mergers and acquisitions of companies, business units and interests in other companies, where this is appropriate. In order to perform such transactions swiftly and with the necessary flexibility, Deutsche Telekom AG must have the option of increasing its capital stock for non-cash contributions while excluding the subscription rights of shareholders. To this extent, non-cash contributions include companies, business units or interests in other companies.

In the case of an acquisition, it can make economic sense to acquire other assets in addition to the actual object acquired, for example those which serve the economic purposes of the acquired object. This applies in particular, but not exclusively, if a company that is being acquired does not own the industrial or intangible property rights relating to its operations. In such and comparable cases, Deutsche Telekom AG must be in a position to acquire assets related to the acquisition plan, and to offer shares as a consideration for this. Deutsche Telekom AG should therefore also have the option of increasing its capital stock for non-cash contributions while excluding the subscription rights of shareholders. In such cases, non-cash contributions include the asset related to the acquisition plan.

The Board of Management should also be entitled to use the approved capital 2004 in particular to grant the owners of securitized or unsecuritized claims against Deutsche Telekom AG, which in the context of the sale of companies, business units or interests in companies to Deutsche Telekom AG, shares in Deutsche Telekom AG in whole or in part in lieu of the cash payments. In cases where, for example, the Company has initially agreed to pay in cash for the acquisition of a company or an interest in a company, this may give the Company the added flexibility of subsequently offering shares in lieu of cash. In such cases, the claim is considered to be the non-cash contribution for the utilization of the approved capital 2004.

There are no precise plans at present for mergers or acquisitions, which would require use of the option of increasing non-cash capital while excluding subscription rights. When specific opportunities arise for mergers or acquisition of companies, business units or interest in companies, or there is an opportunity to acquire other assets related to an acquisition plan, the Board of Management shall examine each case to decide whether to use the option of increasing capital against non-cash contributions while excluding the subscription rights of shareholders. The Board of Management shall only use the authorization if it is convinced that issuing Deutsche Telekom AG shares to make an acquisition is in the best interests of the Company. The Supervisory Board will only give the required consent for use of the approved capital 2004, if it is likewise of this conviction.

Considering all the above-mentioned facts and circumstances, the Board of Management and the Supervisory Board regard the authorization to exclude the subscription right, also taking into account the dilution effect to the disadvantage of the shareholders, as justified and reasonable for the reasons given.

The Board of Management shall report to the Shareholders' Meeting on each use of the approved capital.
