Item 8.01. Other Events.

As previously disclosed, the Audit Committee of Motive's Board of Directors is conducting a review of various financial accounting issues and matters. Also as previously disclosed, this review has raised the possibility that adjustments may be made to certain of Motive's historical financial statements in respect of the purchase accounting treatment for Motive's acquisition of BroadJump, Inc. in January of 2003. On October 14, 2006, Motive's Audit Committee determined that its review should specifically include certain revenue-related agreements that were entered into by Motive and BroadJump during the pendency of the acquisition transaction, and certain related issues. Also on October 14, 2006, the Audit Committee approved a recommendation by Motive's management regarding the engagement of an independent firm to perform an independent valuation of certain matters that are relevant to the purchase accounting treatment of the BroadJump acquisition. As a result of these developments, Motive is uncertain regarding its ability to achieve the previously disclosed November 30, 2006 outside date for announcing the results of the restatement of its 2001-2005 financial statements and filing its delinquent periodic reports with the SEC.

The efforts of Motive's Audit Committee and management are ongoing. It is possible that these efforts may identify additional or different issues that could further impact the Company's previously issued financial statements, and that these issues and their impact on such financial statements could be material.
