New Strategic Growth Plan to Create Long-Term
Shareholder Value

Earlier this year, Luby's announced a new strategic growth plan designed to position the Company for the future and create long-term shareholder value

Open new restaurants based on an innovative, upscale design

Invest in existing restaurants

Expand our brand

FY08 Capex: $33M to $40M

New unit development costs related to real estate:

approximately $4M to $5M

Construction and equipment costs for new units: approximately $15M to $17M (approx. $2.8 million per unit)

Recurring repairs at existing units: approximately $6M to $7M

Upgrades and technology costs at our existing units:

approximately $8M to $11M

15

Debuting New Innovative, Upscale Restaurants

New next generation cafeterias offer customers

An upscale dining experience

Healthy choices

The same quality food, variety and affordability

The first new restaurant opened in Cypress, Texas on

August

17

th

Already outperforming the system average unit sales of $2.5M

on pace to exceed $3.25M

Well-received by customers

Anticipate building 45 to 50 new restaurants over the next five years in growing areas of existing markets and expanding to promising new growth markets

Expect to open 4 to 6 new units in 2008

New restaurants will drive increased market share, higher unit sales and enhanced store-level profit Expect 15

20% cash flow return

16

Investing In and Enhancing Existing Restaurants

Update existing locations to further enhance the dining experience of our guests

Performed upgrade work at 30 stores in FY07

Rest rooms, interior, ceiling tile work, dining room lighting, carpet, high chairs, tables, chairs, exterior paint and benches.

Additional new components:

Pay at the end of the line,

booths & booth walls, condiment stands, & salad & dessert display cases

Restaurant management team continues to focus on maintaining Luby's high standards of food quality, service and profitability

17

Expand Our Brand: Grow Culinary Contract Services

Build on Luby's core strengths by bringing high-quality, made-from-scratch offerings to new facilities at hospitals and medical schools

New dining facility at Baylor College of Medicine has been well-received by customers and is performing in line with expectations

Continue to grow the culinary contract business, which increased from one account to eight in FY07

Focused on growing this area of business and expanding our brand into the healthcare sector

Positive Wall Street Review

We were quite impressed by the layout, ambience, and location. In our opinion, the new restaurant represents a substantial improvement over existing locations.

This

opening, therefore, gives us greater confidence in Luby's growth plan and the use of this restaurant design as the vehicle.

We believe this attractive design creates more energy in the restaurant and gives Luby's a greater casual dining ambiance that should be more appealing to today's consumers, who are less inclined to dine at cafeterias.

Therefore, these new

Luby's should attract a broader customer base and thus generate higher sales volumes, in our opinion.

Ramius

has no interest in long-term value creation

Ramius

is presenting a short-term plan to manipulate the Company's balance sheet by engaging in a sale/leaseback of its real estate

Ramius

plan would deplete capital assets and potentially saddle the Company with debt and make it difficult, if not impossible, to pursue the Company's strategic growth plan

By owning rather than leasing properties, Luby's generates better operating margins and greater

Wall Street Recognizes Luby's Has The Right Plan

Company transitioning from turnaround phase to growth phase.

After

turning around the business, LUB is now focused on growth through the expansion of its restaurant base using an attractive new prototype and its culinary service business. We believe this strategy should drive higher earnings and returns and, subsequently, the stock's valuation.

Superior management team and attractive asset base.

LUB has one of the most talented management teams in the business, in our opinion, giving us confidence in the execution of the company's growth plan. A rich asset base through LUB's real estate ownership limits the downside risk, too.

LUB's

accelerating long-term growth outlook and superior management team are the key drivers of why we think LUB shares will outperform the broader market and its peers over the next 12 months.

Over the long term, the market eventually rewards restaurant companies that have improving growth outlooks with higher multiples. Therefore, we believe that as the market begins to recognize the upside of LUB's strategy, the stock should appreciate ahead of its peers. Luby's is also led by a very experienced management team that is implementing the right strategy to enhance shareholder value, in our opinion, and has the talent to execute.
