Item 2.01 Completion of Acquisition or Disposition of Assets.

High Trust Acquisition

On July 15, 2011, Ameris Bank (the Bank), the wholly-owned banking subsidiary of Ameris Bancorp (the Company), entered into a Purchase and Assumption Agreement (the High Trust Agreement) with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (the FDIC), as Receiver of High Trust Bank, Stockbridge, Georgia (High Trust), and the FDIC, acting in its corporate capacity, pursuant to which the Bank acquired certain assets, and assumed substantially all of the deposits and certain liabilities, of High Trust (the High Trust Acquisition).

Under the terms of the High Trust Agreement, the Bank acquired approximately $179.1 million in assets, including approximately $133.5 million in loans, and also assumed approximately $176.3 million in liabilities, including approximately $176.0 million in customer deposits. The deposits were acquired with no premium, and the assets were acquired at a discount of $33.5 million. To settle the transaction, the FDIC made a cash payment to the Bank totaling $30.2 million, based on the differential between liabilities assumed and assets acquired, taking into account the asset discount.

In connection with the High Trust Acquisition, the Bank entered into shared-loss agreements with the FDIC that collectively cover approximately $22.2 million of single family residential mortgage loans, approximately $23.7 million of other real estate owned, approximately $98.2 million of commercial real estate loans and approximately $12.0 million of construction loans, other commercial loans and other commercial assets (collectively, High Trust Covered Assets). Under these shared-loss agreements, the FDIC will reimburse the Bank for 80% of losses on High Trust Covered Assets, beginning with the first dollar of loss incurred. The Bank will reimburse the FDIC for recoveries with respect to losses for which the FDIC paid the Bank under the shared-loss agreements. The shared-loss agreement applicable to single family residential mortgage loans provides for FDIC loss sharing and reimbursement by the Bank to the FDIC, in each case as described above, for ten years. The shared-loss agreement applicable to commercial loans and securities provides for FDIC loss sharing for five years and reimbursement by the Bank to the FDIC for eight years, in each case as described above.

The Bank also has agreed to pay to the FDIC, 45 days after July 31, 2021 (or, if later, the time of disposition of all acquired assets pursuant to the shared-loss agreements) (the True-Up Date), the excess, if any, of (i) 20% of the intrinsic loss estimate of approximately $51 million less (ii) the sum of (A) 20% of the cumulative shared-loss payments (defined as the aggregate of all shared-loss payments made by the FDIC to the Bank under the High Trust shared-loss agreements minus the aggregate of all reimbursement payments made by the Bank to the FDIC under such agreements), plus (B) 25% of the asset discount of total High Trust Covered Assets at the inception of the related shared-loss agreement, plus (C) servicing amounts equal to 3.5% of total High Trust Covered Assets at the inception of the related shared-loss agreement.

The terms of the High Trust Agreement provide for the FDIC to indemnify the Bank against certain claims, including, but not limited to, claims with respect to liabilities and assets of High Trust or any of their affiliates not assumed or otherwise purchased by the Bank, with respect to claims made by shareholders of High Trust and with respect to claims based on any action by High Trust's directors, officers and other employees.

The foregoing summary of the High Trust Agreement, including the related shared-loss agreements, is not complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the High Trust Agreement, which is attached as Exhibit 2.1 to this Current Report and incorporated herein by reference.

One Georgia Acquisition

Also on July 15, 2011, the Bank entered into a Purchase and Assumption Agreement (the One Georgia Agreement) with the FDIC, as Receiver of One Georgia Bank, Atlanta, Georgia (One Georgia), and the FDIC, acting in its corporate capacity, pursuant to which the Bank acquired certain assets, and assumed substantially all of the deposits and certain liabilities, of One Georgia (the One Georgia Acquisition).

Under the terms of the One Georgia Agreement, the Bank acquired approximately $181.5 million in assets, including approximately $115.2 million in loans. The Bank also assumed approximately $155.9 million in liabilities, including approximately $136.0 million in customer deposits. The deposits were acquired with no premium, and the assets were acquired at a discount of $22.5 million. To settle the transaction, the Bank made a cash payment to the FDIC totaling $5.7 million, based on the differential between liabilities assumed and assets acquired, taking into account the asset discount.

In connection with the One Georgia Acquisition, the Bank entered into shared-loss agreements with the FDIC that collectively cover approximately $21.1 million of single family residential mortgage loans, approximately $18.7 million of other real estate owned, approximately $67.6 million of commercial real estate loans and approximately $25.8 million of construction loans, other commercial loans and other commercial assets (collectively, One Georgia Covered Assets). Under these shared-loss agreements, the FDIC will reimburse the Bank for 80% of losses on One Georgia Covered Assets, beginning with the first dollar of loss incurred. The Bank will reimburse the FDIC for recoveries with respect to losses for which the FDIC paid the Bank under the shared-loss agreements. The shared-loss agreement applicable to single family residential mortgage loans provides for FDIC loss sharing and reimbursement by the Bank to the FDIC, in each case as described above, for ten years. The shared-loss agreement applicable to commercial loans and securities provides for FDIC loss sharing for five years and reimbursement by the Bank to the FDIC for eight years, in each case as described above.

The Bank also has agreed to pay to the FDIC, 45 days after July 31, 2021 (or, if later, the time of disposition of all acquired assets pursuant to the shared-loss agreements) (the True-Up Date), the excess, if any, of (i) 20% of the intrinsic loss estimate of $56 million less (ii) the sum of (A) 20% of the cumulative shared-loss payments (defined as the aggregate of all shared-loss payments made by the FDIC to the Bank under the One Georgia shared-loss agreements minus the aggregate of all reimbursement payments made by the Bank to the FDIC under such agreements), plus (B) 25% of the asset discount of total One Georgia Covered Assets at the inception of the related shared-loss agreement, plus (C) servicing amounts equal to 3.5% of total One Georgia Covered Assets at the inception of the related shared-loss agreement.

The terms of the One Georgia Agreement provide for the FDIC to indemnify the Bank against certain claims, including, but not limited to, claims with respect to liabilities and assets of One Georgia or any of their affiliates not assumed or otherwise purchased by the Bank, with respect to claims made by shareholders of One Georgia and with respect to claims based on any action by One Georgia's directors, officers and other employees.

The foregoing summary of the One Georgia Agreement, including the related shared-loss agreements, is not complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the One Georgia Agreement, which is attached as Exhibit 2.2 to this Current Report and incorporated herein by reference.
