Caterpillar Board of Directors elects new Corporate Controller

Caterpillar Inc. (NYSE: CAT) announced today the retirement of Corporate Controller Kenneth J. Zika. Elected to succeed Zika as Controller is David B. Burritt, currently serving as Corporate 6 Sigma Champion.

"On behalf of our board of directors, I thank Ken for his contributions to Caterpillar," said Caterpillar Chairman and CEO Glen Barton. "We take great pride in our reputation for integrity and financial soundness. Throughout his career, Ken has worked tirelessly to enhance that well-earned reputation."

Burritt joined Caterpillar in 1978 as an accountant after graduating from Bradley University with a degree in accounting. He also holds an MBA from the University of Illinois and has completed the Stanford University Executive Program. Burritt has served in numerous financial roles around the world, and most recently led Caterpillar's corporate-wide implementation of 6 Sigma.

"Dave's sound financial background, international experience and commitment to Caterpillar make him an ideal choice for Corporate Controller," Barton said. "Most recently as our Corporate 6 Sigma Champion, Dave helped usher in a new culture at Caterpillar, resulting in our company becoming the true benchmark for 6 Sigma implementation."

Zika's retirement is effective Dec. 31, 2002. Burritt will assume his new responsibilities effective Dec. 1, 2002, and his replacement will be named in the near future.
