Special Payroll Q&As for Mariner offshore hourly employees who are currently paid bi-weekly in arrears

Q: What can I expect my semi-monthly paychecks to include?

A: On each semi-monthly pay date you will receive one half of your monthly base salary plus 8 hours of scheduled overtime per hitch. This is how your base semi-monthly salary is calculated:

The semi-monthly base salary is calculated by taking your annual salary and dividing that by 24, which represents 12 months times 2 pay dates each month.

The semi-monthly base salary represents 86.67 hours of pay. That is calculated by taking the standard number of work hours in a year (40 hours a week times 52 weeks in a year) divided by 24 pay dates.

Each pay day you can expect to be paid for the following:

Semi-monthly base salary expressed as 86.67 regular hours

8 hours of scheduled overtime for the current semi-monthly pay period

Adjustments for additional overtime hours worked or hours less than the prepaid scheduled overtime. These adjustments are paid according to the Payroll Schedule for each hitch.

Q: How will my work and absence hours be reported?

A: All Apache employees report their work hours and absence hours through the time and attendance system. Instructions for accessing and using this system will be provided at orientation. The Payroll staff runs reports from the time and attendance system to determine how many adjustment hours each employee is due each pay date. Of course, it is important that you report your time each week and that supervisors approve time each week.

Q: There are 52 weeks in the year and 24 pay periods. How will I receive my overtime pay for the other weeks?

A: The Payroll Schedule lists each semi-monthly pay date and the corresponding weeks of overtime adjustments that are scheduled to be paid. In general, two weeks of overtime adjustments are paid on each pay date. Every three months, usually the last pay date of each calendar quarter, three weeks of overtime adjustments are paid. By following this schedule, all weeks of overtime adjustments are accounted for and paid.

Q: I am currently paid every other Friday. What will be the dates of pay when I am paid semi-monthly?

A: The Apache semi-monthly pay dates are on the 15th and last business day of each month. Should the 15th or last business day be on a Saturday, Sunday or holiday, the pay date will be on the business day preceding the weekend or holiday.

Forward-Looking Statements

Statements in this document include forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. The opinions, forecasts, projections, future plans or other statements other than statements of historical fact, are forward-looking statements. We can give no assurance that such expectations will prove to have been correct. Actual results could differ materially as a result of a variety of risks and uncertainties, including: the timing to consummate the proposed transaction; the risk that a condition to closing of the proposed transaction may not be satisfied; the risk that a regulatory approval that may be required for the proposed transaction is not obtained or is obtained subject to conditions that are not anticipated; negative effects from the pendency of the merger; our ability to achieve the synergies and value creation contemplated by the proposed transaction; our ability to promptly and effectively integrate the merged businesses; and the diversion of management time on transaction-related issues. Other factors that could materially affect actual results are discussed in Apache's and Mariner's most recent Forms 10-K as well as each company's other filings with the SEC available at the SEC's website at www.sec.gov. Actual results may differ materially from those expected, estimated or projected. Forward-looking statements speak only as of the date they are made, and we undertake no obligation to publicly update or revise any of them in light of new information, future events or otherwise.
